

Top Ten Tennis Quotes On-Air Fun for Wimbledon

London, ON Canada Jun 26, 2006

"Tennis is a perfect combination of violent action taking place in an atmosphere of total tranquility." --Billie Jean King

This year's Wimbledon Tennis Tournament, taking place from June 26 to July 9, is sure to captivate fans and audiences around the world:

- √ Will Roger Federer retain his title and win his fourth consecutive title?
- √ At age 36, will this year's Wimbledon be Andre Agassi's last?
- √ Marina Hingis is back on the courts after a three year retirement!
- √ Will defending champion, Venus Williams, win her fourth Wimbledon title?

Wimbledon's first tournament was held in 1877 as a fundraiser to help the club pay for new lawn equipment. Twenty-two players entered and 200 spectators attended what was the world's first organized tennis tournament.

Wimbledon today boasts a total of over 600 spots for competitors in its five main events. Annual attendance figures are close to 500,000, at 35,500 spectators a day. Millions more follow the action on the court via TV, radio and the Internet.

To engage your listeners in Wimbledon fever during the two week celebrated event, Don't Quote Me provides a list of top ten quotes about tennis. Here's a sampling:

"The fifth set is not about tennis, it's about nerves."
--Boris Becker

"Whoever said, 'It's not whether you win or lose that counts,' probably lost."
--Martina Navratilova

"Experience is a great advantage. The problem is that when you get the experience, you're too damned old to do anything about it."
--Jimmy Connors
