

Don't Quote Me – TIME For Kids Wins Toy Of The Year Award

Creative Child Magazine, a leading publisher and resource in the parenting industry has awarded the new Don't Quote Me – TIME For Kids Edition board game the 2005 Toy Of The Year Award in the Kid's Board Games category.

For Immediate Release: July 7, 2005

Wiggles 3D has recently won the 2005 Toy of the Year Award from Creative Child Magazine for their new Don't Quote Me® – TIME For Kids Edition board game. The award is the top award given in the Kid's Board Games category.

The new Don't Quote Me® - TIME For Kids Edition game, developed through license with Time Inc.'s TIME For Kids newsmagazine, is an exceptional game that's packed with 1,000 quotes and questions covering topics that kids know and study. Each question provides background information with interesting and fun facts that kids love. Other innovative features include a puzzle game board that players build as they go and a variety of event cards for strategy and action-packed fun! It's for ages 10+ and ideal family entertainment.

"We're delighted with the award," says Wiggles 3D creator and owner Don Reid. "It recognizes the game's creativity and quality and affirms the excellent play and learning value that the game offers to kids and families."

The game also comes in a magnetic travel version ideal for active families and friends on the go. New quotes and question cards in the travel games are fully interchangeable with cards from other Don't Quote Me® games for added play value.

This is the third in a series of award-winning games from Don't Quote Me®. Others are:

- The Don't Quote Me® - TV Guide Edition, developed through license with TV Guide, is a romp through pop culture history featuring memorable quotes and trivia celebrating over 50 years of TV and movie history. For ages 14+.
- The original Don't Quote Me® game travels through time featuring quotations from Buddha to Bush and embracing virtually every area of human interest. For ages 14+
